

ALFRED TENNYSON.

England's Poet Laureate Called to His Immortal Home.

DEATH OCCURRED YESTERDAY.

Surrounded by His Family and Friends He Peacefully Passes Away—The Immediate Cause of His Death Was a Severe Cold That Developed into Influenza. Brief Biography of the Dead Poet.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Lord Alfred Tennyson died at 1:35 o'clock yesterday morning. Lady Tennyson, his son Hallam and his wife, Sir Andrew Clark, Dr. Dobbs, the nurses and other servants, who had been with him for twenty-five years, were at his bedside when death came. He was tranquil, conscious and painless to the end.

TENNYSON.

Lord Tennyson's illness dated from Sept. 27, when he became chilled while driving. A severe cold resulted which developed into influenza, which resulted fatally.

Wednesday morning Tennyson was turned, at his request, to face the light. After looking at the window for several minutes he spoke of the brilliancy of the sunshine and the clearness of the air. Early in the afternoon he slept lightly. He awoke in full consciousness. He asked for his favorite copy of Shakespeare, turned the leaves until he found "Cymbeline," and gazed at one page for several minutes, moving his lips as if reading to himself. The watchers waited in silence for him to speak, but he finally laid down the volume without having uttered a word, and, with his finger still between the leaves, he fell asleep. The book was not removed.

When Tennyson awoke toward evening, he could speak only in a weak whisper. He thanked Dr. Dobbs and Sir Andrew Clark for their faithful attendance, and commended each of the servants who had helped care for him during his illness, and whispered a word or two of gratitude to the nurses. As evening advanced, the moon rose in unusual splendor and flooded the room with light. Tennyson watched it through the curtainless window with his hand still resting between the leaves of "Cymbeline." At 10:30 o'clock, he was sinking fast. Hallam Tennyson gave him a few spoonfuls of brandy and milk; he swallowed with difficulty and was unable to partake further nourishment. At midnight he whispered very feebly his last words to his wife. His finger still marked the passages of "Cymbeline," which he had last read, and thus he died.

"In all my experience," said Sir Andrew Clark, "I never witnessed anything more glorious. There were no artificial lights in the chamber. All was darkness except for the silver light of the full moon which fell upon the bed and played upon the features of the divine poet like a halo in a Rembrandt picture." "The end was beautiful, calm and painless," said Hallam Tennyson. "He passed away as if in sleep, and the watchers could hardly distinguish the final moment."

During the last two days of his illness Tennyson was told occasionally of the hundreds of telegrams of inquiry received at Aldworth, and he expressed repeatedly his gratitude that so many persons, far and near, were watching anxiously the course of his illness. Hallam Tennyson read the dispatches from the queen each day until Wednesday, and his father listened with evident pleasure.

Lady Tennyson made a brave effort yesterday to rally under her grief, but she is almost prostrated by sorrow and fatigue.

The poet's death was announced only after prolonged delay. Shortly before 2 o'clock the sky became clouded and a cold rain began to fall. Most of the reporters who had waited outside the gate left. Some time later Sir Andrew Clark left the house to take his carriage for London, and from him came the first news of the poet's death.

The space reserved in Westminster Abbey for Tennyson's body is just to the left of Robert Browning's tomb. No memorial service will be held in Hazlemere on Sunday, but it is understood that the bishop of Winchester will refer in his sermon at the parish church to the poet's death.

Several evening papers were yesterday in mourning for Tennyson. All published long leaders which agree that it is too soon to give a proper estimate of Tennyson's position among the British poets.

The St. James Gazette says: "The poet of our age has gone, with his singing robes about him, leaving a name which will not die. It may be that others soared higher and touched deeper notes, but none spoke more words which knock at the hearts of the men of his time. He embodied all that is best in the Victorian age. Since Goethe none has had a larger vision, but the English owe him more than the German owe Goethe. The whole world is poorer of his death."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "His name will shine through the ages in the poetical galaxy. According to the judgment of the civilized world he was immortal long before he died." The Pall Mall Gazette adds that Swinburne will probably succeed Tennyson as poet laureate, and that in view of "the abuses Swinburne has lavished upon Mr. Gladstone the choice would be characteristic, and an instance of a great man's magnanimity."

The Evening News and Post says: "He was the Mendelssohn of poets. He played upon the unvoiced emotions of hearts. Posterity will probably not reckon him as high as Milton or Shakespeare. Even Browning had loftier notes. None, however, upheld better England's name and fame; never was there a clearer guide to things beautiful. There was no mysticism in his mind; it was as placid as a lake."

The Globe says: "We have lost the first Englishman of letters and the first poet. Perhaps he did not rise to Shelley's heights, but he knew the beautiful language of the heart. The verdict will always be that he was the greatest singer of the Victorian age."

Alfred Tennyson was born Aug. 6, 1809, at Somersby, a village in Lincolnshire, about half way between Spilsby and Horncastle, England. He was one of the twelve children (of whom seven were sons) of Rev. G. Clayton Tennyson, L.L.D., rector of Somersby and vicar of Grimsby. Alfred was taught the rudimentary subjects, partly at home and partly at "Sadney" village school. Alfred Tennyson's first verses were written upon the model of Thompson's "Seasons."

In 1828 he went to Trinity college, Cambridge, and in 1829 gained a gold medal for a poem on Timbuctoo. He published his first volume of poetry about this time, and in 1832 his second volume was published by Edward Moxon. The story that "Locksley Hall" was based upon personal experience is said to have, not the slightest foundation. In the year 1850 he was married to Miss Emily Sellwood, and in the same year succeeded Wadsworth as poet laureate, and produced on the day of the funeral of the Duke of Wellington, November, 1832, his immortal "Ode."

The Crimean war exerted a depressing effect on the sensitive genius, as evidenced by his poem "Maud." After a silence of several years the first series of "Idylls of the King," embracing four stories in blank verse drawn from the Arthurian legends restored the poet's waning popularity, and was generally accepted as his greatest poetical effort, a verdict confirmed ten years later when the cycle was completed by the publication of "The Holy Grail and other Poems" (1869).

In the interval between the publication of the second parts of his Idylls Tennyson had issued "Enoch Arden" (1854). He has since then published "The Window; or, the Songs of the Wrens" (1870); "Queen Mary," a drama (1875), and in 1877 another drama called "Harold." He has written very little of late years.

FARRINGFORD HOUSE—TENNYSON'S HOME.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Burial of Some of the Victims of the Coffeyville Tragedy.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Oct. 7.—Emmet Dalton, the wounded member of the bandit gang, is still alive but suffers intense pain. It is not believed that he can recover. The robber who succeeded in escaping has not been recaptured, and as he probably is making his way towards the Indian Territory, where he had many friends, it is not thought he will be captured.

The town is still greatly excited over the stirring events of Wednesday, but there is a great feeling of relief over the extermination of the gang of outlaws, who have terrorized this section for the last three years. The bodies of the dead robbers were prepared for burial yesterday. They were enclosed in cheap pine coffins and placed on the floor of the local undertaker's morgue. All day crowds of curious people gathered and viewed the remains. The burials took place late in the afternoon.

Late yesterday afternoon it was decided to hold funeral services over the remains of George Cubine and Marshal Connelly. The services were simple and impressive. The remains of Cubine were forwarded to his home at Independence, Kan. Marshal Connelly will be interred in the family burial place here. The body of Charles Brown will be sent to Harley, S. D., and that of Lucas Baldwin will be shipped to Burlington, Kan., for interment.

A Woman and Her Two Children Badly Burned.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Josephine Groll and her two children were badly burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the apartments of Mrs. Groll, 11 Kossuth Place, this city, last evening. One of the children subsequently died of its burns in the hospital.

Charles Basch, who had run to the aid of the woman and her children, was also badly burned about the hands. When the firemen arrived the upper part of the house was in flames, and was completely gutted before they were extinguished. Loss not stated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Mrs. Harrison passed another comparatively comfortable night and is reported to be holding her own. There is no appreciable change in her condition.

SIX HUNDRED KILLED

Desperate Battle Fought in Venezuela.

GENERAL CRESPO VICTORIOUS

Another Decisive Blow Struck Against the Government and Many High Officials Taken Prisoners—Two of Our Own War Ships Already There and There May Be Use for Them.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A private dispatch from La Guayra, Venezuela, received here yesterday, says: A desperate battle has just taken place at Los Teques, a small town on the railroad line to Valencia, equally distant between that place and Caracas.

Six hundred men were killed and many high government officials captured. Crespo has struck another decisive blow, which, following his previous successes, means victory for the Crespists. Crespo has announced his determination to enter Caracas as soon as possible.

A letter received in the city yesterday from La Guayra, under date of Sept. 27, says that upon the recommendation of Renjifo Palacio, the Caracas government recently canceled the exequatur (or official recognition as consul) of Mr. Philip C. Hanna, United States consul at La Guayra. Minister Scruggs, however, called upon the president at once and protested against this action.

He assured the government that Consul Hanna's action at the time the other consuls were jailed at Pepper—to which Palacio appears to have objected—met with his full approval and that of the government at Washington. As a result of the interview the president directed the recall of the foreign minister's notice, advising cancellation of the exequatur.

Consul Hanna and Secretary of Legation Bartleman had a long conference on Sept. 28, with Admiral Walker aboard the Chicago. It is understood that he notified the government that it must give forty-eight hours' notice to foreigners to get out of the place before firing a shot from La Vigia. Both the Chicago and the Kearsarge have their guns trained upon the fort, and its commander will hardly dare carry out his threat in the face of the American's warning.

It is reported that General Peraza, in command of the government fleet, recently sent an expedition against Nangua. The warship Paparo, the first to reach the scene, commenced to shell the town. The peaceful people fled to the mountains when the troops effected a landing and ransacked the village, not even sparing the sacred relics of the local church. Helpless women and little girls of ten were overtaken and assaulted by the half-drunken soldiery and most terrible outrages of every kind committed.

In one instance a baby was torn from its mother's arms and its brains dashed out against the rocks. In another case, an old man of seventy years had his ears chopped off and his tongue cut out. The troops brought their loot to La Guayra, and were allowed to offer it for sale in the public market.

A special to The Herald from Washington says the Concord, which returned yesterday to Colon, will probably be ordered back to Venezuela at once, as reports received at the state department indicate that matters are approaching a crisis in that country and that there is need for all three of Admiral Walker's fleet now in those waters.

NANCY HANKS' RECORD.

It Was Not Lowered at New Albany, Indiana, Yesterday.

NEW ALBANY, Oct. 7.—A crowd estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000 witnessed Nancy Hanks' wonderful performance yesterday afternoon at the New Albany fair grounds. She trotted a mile in 2:06 flat, which has been excelled but once on a regulation track, and then by herself at Terre Haute last week, when she covered a mile in 2:04, the world's record.

Two preliminary heats had put her in fine fettle and numerous bets were made that she would beat 2:07, while others more reckless were willing to risk their money that she would equal her 2:04 record. At 4:30 o'clock the trotting queen was brought out for the final heat. The runner, Abe Lincoln, hitched in an old stily sulky with Dr. Hottenbach in the seat stood opposite the distance flag near the outer fence.

Nancy came like a cyclone down the stretch, with Abe Lincoln on her wheel. Doble nodded for the word and was off. The gait was appalling. She was at the eighth pole in 16 seconds flat. The first quarter was reached in 31 2-5. This was the uphill quarter. The half was reached in 1:03 1-2, and the next quarter was passed in 1:36. The burst of speed as she came into the stretch and into view of the crowd was terrific.

So fast did she come that many thought Doble had lost control of her. Not a false skip did she make. On she flew, never faltering in the task before her, as she squared herself for her final effort in her wonderful flight for the wire. As Doble gathered her for the effort he gently touched her with the whip. She responded gamely, and with one of those wonderful lifts of his the goal was reached. The crowd was in an uproar, and when the time was hung out, 2:06, pandemonium reigned for fully ten minutes.

Fell From a Scaffold.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 7.—Two frescoers named Alexander Krucks and William Otto, at work yesterday on the fourth story of Newell's hotel, on Fifth avenue, lost their balance and fell from the scaffold to the cellar, a distance of about seventy feet.

TWO SIDES TO ALL STORIES.

Another Chapter in the Sensational Abduction Case Near Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Nearly everybody implicated in the carrying off of Lela Bennett Wednesday are now under arrest. It seems that Lela has not been getting along well with her brothers and sisters, and on Tuesday left them and went to the house of a neighbor. She was pursued and taken away by her brothers, who chained her up.

A search for her Wednesday, continued into the night, resulted in finding her at the house of Van Tassel. Yesterday the Bennetts had the Bangs brothers and Quince Van Tassel arrested on a charge of malicious destruction of property, and Van Tassel has had Edna Bennett arrested for shooting with intent to kill and has also implicated her brother, A. E. Bennett, as an accessory, alleging that he loaded the gun that was used, telling her to shoot anybody that attempted to take away Lela. It is said that Lela is to be arrested also. She is under age and an effort will, it is reported, be made to have her sent to the girls' industrial home on a charge of incorrigibility.

ALL ON BOARD LOST.

The Missing Lake Vessel Found Bottom Side Up.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 7.—The tug which went in search of the steam barge Nashua, which has been adrift on Lake Huron since Monday night, arrived in Sand Beach yesterday evening and reports having found the Nashua bottom side up twenty miles from Bayfield at daylight yesterday morning.

The tug made a diligent search in the neighborhood for some of the crew, but could not find a trace of any of them, and it is now feared that all are lost. The only names of the missing people known here are Captain Richard Millen and wife, Archie Muir, of Port Huron, pilot; Charles Brockway, mate, of Brockway, Mich., and John Putnau, first engineer, of Detroit. Captain Millen owned a third of the boat.

TEN-CENT LUNCH.

It Causes a Bloody Murder at Richmond, Kentucky.

RICHMOND, Oct. 7.—John Grimes, a poor white man, entered Lewis Simpson's grocery and ordered a ten-cent lunch, which Simpson is said to have attempted to make Grimes pay for twice.

The white man refused to pay a second time and Simpson, who is colored, struck him a fearful blow in the head, fracturing Grimes' skull and scattering blood and brain matter all over the floor.

Grimes was taken home, where he lies at the point of death. Public sentiment is strong against Simpson, and as Grimes' death is only a matter of a few hours, there may be a lynching.

Foundry and Lumber Yard Burned.

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 7.—Fire yesterday, which started in Clark & Flynn's copper and iron foundry and which spread to the lumber yard of ex-Mayor O'Neill, caused a loss of $50,000. For a time it looked as if the fire would spread to the Red Star steamship Friesland which lay in the company's docks, and which adjoined the burned property, but by means of a number of tugs the flames were held in check.

Accident on the Race Track.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 7.—During the races at Riverside park yesterday afternoon, Sam P. Wilson, driver of Eura in the 2:27 trot, and Harry Jones, driver of Raven Wilkes, collided at full speed, and Wilson was thrown from his sulky. After he fell a horse stepped upon his face and he was carried off the track in an unconscious condition. Still later he rallied and his recovery is not questioned.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Oct. 7.—A collision occurred in the Erie railroad yards here yesterday morning. Engineer Robinson, who started with an engine to assist some cars that were derailed about a mile west of this city, failed to see the lights of the derailed cars, and dashed into them.

John Mater, a car repairer, was instantly killed.

The following were injured by jumping:

SMOTHERED TO DEATH.

Peculiar Accident in Which an Engineer and Fireman Lose Their Lives.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 7.—An accident causing the death of two men occurred yesterday afternoon at the mines of the New York and Cleveland and Gas Coal company, located at Sandy creek, nine miles out on the Allegheny Valley railroad. An engine hauls coal cars through a long tunnel from the mines to the check house. Smoke from the engine frequently fills the tunnel toward the end of the day.

Yesterday about 5 o'clock there were two cars attached to the engine filled with miners returning from work. One of the cars jumped the track. The miners at once got out and walked through the tunnel to the open air, leaving the engineer, George Schaeffer, and his fireman, Richard Johnson, trying to right the car. The alarm was given, and a rescuing party went in, but when they reached the place both men were dead, having been smothered by the smoke and foul air. Schaeffer was found sitting in the cab of his engine. Johnson was found lying up against the boiler, and his arm was badly burned. Both men were married.

Train Goes Through a Burning Bridge.

COUNCIL GROVE, Kan., Oct. 7.—A freight train on the Missouri Pacific met with a bad accident about sixty miles west of this place yesterday, caused by the train going through a burning bridge. The engineer, C. T. Peffer, a son of United States Senator Peffer, and Clint Howard, fireman, were both instantly killed. Charles Hart, another fireman, was also badly injured. After the accident occurred the wreck took fire, burning up thirteen cars of grain. Both Peffer and Howard leave families.

Brakeman Instantly Killed.

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 7.—Harry Smith, a brakeman on the Evansville and Indianapolis railroad, was instantly killed last night. He was on his way to this city. For accommodation's sake, he started to make a coupling, but fell between the cars. He was so stunned from the fall that instead of creeping off the track he crept down the rail and was struck by the slowly-backing train, cutting his body in two. His remains were taken home to Saline City.

Collision on the Northern Pacific.

WINNEPEG, Oct. 7.—A serious accident is reported to have occurred on the Northern Pacific railway between here and Minneapolis, an express train colliding with a freight train. It is said that the two firemen, the engineer of the freight train and two if not more, passengers on the express were killed, and that the engineer of the express is not expected to live. It is also said that twelve men were taken from the debris more or less injured.

Engineer Injured.

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 7.—Thomas Gribble, an engineer on the Chicago and Indiana Coal road, met with an accident last night that will probably result fatally. The train was running fifty miles an hour to make the steep grade at Sylvan. The side bar on the engine broke and flew through the window, striking Gribble in the stomach, knocking him from the engine to the ground beside the track.

Thrown Off a Train.

LIMA, O., Oct. 7.—Yesterday morning J. J. Crocket, of Portland, Ind., was standing on the platform of a passenger car on the Lake Erie and Western railroad when the train suddenly stopped for the Chicago and Erie railroad crossing in South Lima, throwing Crocket off. He plunged head first down a steep embankment and was injured so that he can not recover.

commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. and continuing throughout the day. Congressman James B. McCreary, Congressman Paynter, Hon. A. S. Berry, Judge Hazelrigg, Judge Harbeson, Hon. Leslie Applegate and Commonwealth's Attorney Sallee will address the assemblage. Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Kentucky, warmer, fair; southwest winds.

In 1888 Cleveland carried Georgia by about 60,000 majority. Wednesday the Democrats swept the State by nearly 75,000 majority.

SPEAKING of the contest for Commonwealth's Attorney, the Vanceburg Sun says: "The people have tried Jim Sallee and he has not been found wanting in any respect, and they will see that he receives an indorsement justly merited."

The announcement of Mr. C. C. Hopper as a candidate for Councilman appears elsewhere. Mr. Hopper is one of Maysville's best citizens, and can be relied upon to look carefully after the interests of the city if he is elected.

FRANKFORT Democrats remained idle on registration day. Result, they are outnumbered two to one. They are now begging for another registration day, but it would be serving them just right to deny them the privilege of voting for a year.

Heathen Men of Mashoupa.

Mashoupa was once the residence of a missionary, but the church is now abandoned and falling into ruins, because when asked to repair the edifice at their own expense the men of Mashoupa waxed wroth, and replied irreverently that God might repair his own house, and one old man who received a blanket for his reward for attending divine service is reported to have remarked when the dole was stopped, "No more blanket, no more halleluiah." I fear me the men of Mashoupa are wedded to heathendom.—Fortnightly Review

A funny mistake occurred lately in printing labels for a meat preserving company. The company having added kidney soup to its list, the new article was duly ticketed as "Kidney soup—without bone."—London Tit-Bits.

FROM FRANKFORT.

Double Liability of Stockholders Limited to Certain Corporations.

The Secretary of State to Look After Banks—The Talk About Absenteeism.

Correspondence of the BULLETIN.

FRANKFORT, KY., October 4, 1892. The Senate amended the Corporation bill today, by making the double liability clause apply alone to banking, deposit and trust companies—the original bill having extended the liability to all industrial corporations, building associations and kindred institutions, thus making stockholders in all the smaller corporations responsible for double the amount of their stock. Had the original bill passed it would have virtually closed up every domestic corporation. The Senate also struck out the clause appointing a Commissioner of Banking, Assistant Commissioner and Clerk. Outside of the city of Louisville there was no demand from the people or the banks for the establishment of this department, and, as it involved an expenditure of at least $10,000, it was economy to strike it from the bill passed by the House. The bill required the banks to pay the expenses of the department, but some of our best lawyers were of opinion that it was unconstitutional to levy the cost upon the banks, and believed that the courts would so hold, and make the State pay the expenses. The National banks were not affected by the bill, nor were the banks that were chartered prior to 1856 so it would have been a burdensome tax upon the small city and country banks. The Commissioner also had power to send out roving examiners at $10 a day and expenses, when he or his assistant could not go. We retained all the features of the law as to the quarterly and annual reports, but substituted the Secretary of State for the Commissioner, and gave him the power upon the advice of the Attorney General to investigate and close up any bank that did not conduct its business as prescribed by law. The bill also holds the officials individually and criminally liable for the correctness of all reports. Abundant safeguards are thrown around the banks and the people by the bill, as amended, and the entire expense is but $1,000 to the Secretary of State for his services.

I write this explanation because some of the responsibility for making said changes in the bill has been thrown upon me, as I prepared and presented them as a member of the Committee on Corporations; and I also learn that certain parties who were aspirants for the position of Bank Commissioner, together with some friends of the Governor, will try to defeat the amendments in the House under the guise that the people demand the appointment of said Commissioner and assistants, and that all the State and private banks will swindle somebody if the department of banking, with all of its salaries and expenses, is not created. We don't need such expensive machinery to make our Lewis and Mason banks safe, and the cry for the Commissioner comes from the office-seeker and his friends.

I sent you a copy of the Lexington Transcript showing you how unreliable were the reports of certain newspapers as to Legislative proceedings, and as to the motives that actuated the members of the Assembly in the passage of bills. The criticism of the reporters has arrived at such a pass that if a member of either House or Senate dares to express an opinion, or advocate a measure, (that is not in line with the reporters' preconceived opinion of what the Governor desires), he is at once vilified and abused and his motives impugned, and all the pressure of State patronage hurled against him. Not only that, but facts are manufactured and motives created to prove the members in error, and everything is made to swing in magic circle around the Executive, and yield to this most potent influence.

Permitting the Auditor to appoint his agents was construed into a stab at Governor Brown. Passing the Corporation bill over his veto was made to appear as a mark of gross disrespect. Refusal to re-pass the Election bill is considered another lining at the Executive, and the attempt to save $10,000 for the State by abolishing the Commissioner of Banking Department—though still guarding the interests of the people—is construed as interfering with the Governor's power of appointment. Now, I have too high an opinion of our Governor to think that he authorizes or encourages these reports or reporters, but he should certainly call a halt when he learns of it, as the usefulness of many of the members and the actual passage of needed legislation is seriously retarded by the above causes, and the Legislative part of the government is losing its usefulness.

Absenteeism is a crying evil, but it is not so great as the evil above mentioned. In fact, there has been but few occasions in the House or Senate when any legislation was delayed because members were absent. Under the new Constitution all bills must be read three times in each House, and upon three separate days, and must also be printed in each House. They have also to be written out at length by the Enrolling Clerk, and read and compared in both Houses. The simplest bill requires twelve days to pass. Some of the larger bills require more than twelve days in the printing and enrolling. When I say that the Revenue and Taxation bills No. 351 of the House, and the Corporation bill No. 319 of the Senate, you can account for the way in which some of our time has been occupied. The Senate and House are frequently adjourned for two or three days, simply because they are waiting upon the printer or Enrolling Clerk. Frequently it is tacitly agreed that the Houses will remain in session, but that most of the members can go home until they are needed, but whenever that is done the papers report that "nothing was done in House or Senate for want of a quorum," when, in reality, nothing could have been done had all been present. "Don't shoot the musicians, they are doing the best they can." Respectfully, G. S. WALL.

Mr. Kehoe, of the special committee to draft resolutions on the death of Marshal Hedlin, presented and read the following:

WHEREAS, James Hedlin, Marshal of the city of Maysville, died suddenly on Friday morning, September 16, 1892.

Resolved, That we have heard with deep regret and sorrow of the death of Marshal Hedlin. After an exciting day spent in the interest of our people when great danger threatened, and while yet in the fullness of manhood he quietly laid down his mantle of duty to "sleep the sleep that knows no waking." He was by nature peculiarly fitted for the official duties of the office he so long and so well filled, and we fully appreciate his valuable services in the interest of law and order in our community. As a public sentinel he kept an ever faithful vigil over the lives, homes and property of our citizens. As a detective he was brave, fair and fearless in the discharge of duty and his success in convicting many of the worst criminals in the land made him famous as the foe of evil-doers, and the friend of law and order. We honored him in life and give this testimonial of respect to his memory as a brave officer and a true man.

Resolved, That we, the members of Council, in session assembled, tender to the family of the deceased our condolence and sympathy in their bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, published in the city papers and an official copy of same be presented to the family of our departed friend.

E. W. FITZGERALD,
M. L. NEWELL,
M. F. KEHOE, } Com.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote. A crossing was ordered to be put down from Mr. E. B. Powell's residence to D. Daulton's grocery.

The Committee on Internal Improvements was directed to repair Fifth ward grade.

The Ways and Means Committee was authorized to borrow $3,000 for current expenses.

The property holders on north side of Forest avenue, east of Lexington, were ordered to put down pavements, and the Chief of Police was directed to notify S. F. M. Walker to put down pavement.

The matter of repairs to the alms house was referred to the Committee on Alms to ascertain and report probable cost.

The Committee on Internal Improvements was authorized to repair Gray alley.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

More Improvements Contemplated by the Association—Let All Lend a Helping Hand.

The ladies' committee of the Library Association are making arrangements to effect some improvements in the Public Library which will add greatly to the appearance of the building and grounds. They desire to raise sufficient money to purchase fuel for the coming season, pay for lighting, employ a boy to assist Mr. Hixson so as to keep the library open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., put up a nice fence in front of the grounds, grade the lawn and sow it in grass.

They have already ordered about twenty of the best magazines and illustrated papers published in this country and abroad, and offer the season tickets to all subscribers at just one-half the price of last year, making single tickets only $1 and family tickets $1.50, provided they can secure from 100 to 150 subscribers. This is a most liberal offer and the reading public of Maysville should prove their enterprise by promptly coming forward and subscribing for tickets, which can be secured from Mr. Hixson or at Mr. Harry Taylor's store.

HANDSOME John Henshaw, with jolly May Ten Broeck, delighted the audience at the Lynn Theatre, in their musical comedy skit, "The Nabobs," a continual round of sharp repartee and sweet songs. The play is as pleasing as ever. John E. Henshaw, as Wood B. Good, actor, author and manager, had the bulk of the fun-making and was entirely successful. His songs were taking. His parodies on popular songs, especially on "Mary and John" and "That is Love," were hits at once. By special request he gave his great song, "On the Bridge," to the satisfaction of the audience. May Ten Broeck, as Clara Jolly, was as vivacious as ever, sang well, and was an excellent foil for the drolleries of Henshaw, says an exchange. "The Nabobs" will play a return engagement at the opera house next Monday night.

The favorite play "Ingomar, the Barbarian," will be presented at the opera house to-morrow night by the Labadie-Rowell Company. This grand classic five act drama is by Miss Lowell and has for many years been universally conceded to be one of the best ever written. Francis Labadie as Ingomar deserves praise for the ability shown in his impersonation of the Bandit Chief in this grand production. Miss Mattie Rowell as "Parthenia," the Greek maiden, is a very pleasing person, pretty in face and form, with a sweet voice and is an artist of unmistakable ability. Every feature of "Ingomar" is so splendidly worked out by the Labadie-Rowell Company that the production is a finished picture. Tickets now on sale at Nelson's

CHOLERA'S ROUTE.

It started in Afghanistan and came west.

There is still danger.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The marine hospital bureau has caused to be translated and published an article from the leading medical journal of Constantinople describing the routes by which the cholera spread over Asia and Europe. The article states that the eastern and southern part of the trans-Caucasus were the focus of the epidemic, and in a period of a little more than two months, or from June 20 to Aug. 24 there were about 30,000 choleraic deaths in the Caucasus out of a population of about 5,000,000, or one death in about 200 of the inhabitants. The Caucasus epidemic has been one of the most virulent known in cholera epidemics.

As to the history of the progress of the disease the article states: It was cast a glance over the progress of the epidemic we will see that it started from Djellabad, a city in Afghanistan, situated between Peshawar and Cabul, about the month of December, 1891; that it slowly traversed the mountainous territory separating Cabul from Herat, which latter place it reached in March, 1892; that it gained Meched in the Khorassan about May 27, from four to five months after leaving Djellabad, but from Meched it reached the Trans-Caspian railway about June 20, appearing at the stations of Askalabad and Ouse or Mada, on the Caspian sea. It was, therefore, six months and more in traveling from Afghanistan to the Caspian sea, but there it encountered other railways and routes of navigation, and traveled to St. Petersburg, in northern Russia, and Hamburg, in northwestern Germany, in less than two months.

The rapidity of its progress was, therefore, quadrupled during the second stage of its line of travel. At the time of writing cholera exists in three-fourths of the immense territory of Russia, in some parts of Germany, at Antwerp, Havre, etc. There is still cause to dread the choleraic foot in the Caucasus and Persia, but the conditions prevailing there are less threatening than during the month of August.

WAR ON POOL ROOMS.

Cincinnati Police Authorities Determined to Suppress Gambling.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—The chief of police began a war on the pool rooms yesterday afternoon. Detectives were sent out with instructions to arrest as many bettors as they could catch in the act of buying pools and to bring the attaches of the rooms who received the money. The operators got wind of the intended raid and were on the lookout for the detectives. The first few rounds the officers made resulted in waterhalls, but later in the day several arrests were made.

The Smith brothers and John Doherty, who were arrested Wednesday on a charge of "wire tapping" were before Judge Gregg in the police court yesterday morning. Their cases were continued until next Wednesday. The prisoners gave bond in $500 on a charge of malicious destruction of property and were released. They were immediately arrested on a charge of "feloniously cutting and tapping a telegraph wire." Their bonds were fixed at $1,000 each. This was furnished by the Smiths, but Doherty who could not get bond, was locked up.

DEFENDS HIMSELF WITH A HATCHET. One Man Receives a Fatal Blow and Another His Head Split Open.

BURGESSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 7.—A bloody affair occurred last night at Candor, a village near here. About two weeks ago Israel Ritchey, in a quarrel with his son-in-law, John Wright, struck the latter in the face. Wright had Ritchey arrested and fined, and since then bad blood has existed between them. Last night Wright was at a dance at Ritchey's house. Ritchey renewed the quarrel, and he and his son Dave drove Wright from the house and followed him to his own home, which Wright entered and locked the door. The Ritcheys broke open the door and commenced to abuse Wright, whereupon he struck the elder Ritchey with the hammer end of the hatchet, inflicting a fatal blow. Wright then struck young Ritchey a glancing blow with the sharp end of the hatchet that laid almost the entire side of his head bare. No arrests have been made.
